

Welcome to the technical track at TD SYNNEX InnovAIte 2026. I'm thrilled to have you join us here in Orlando as we expand InnovAIte with a deeper, more hands-on technical program designed specifically for architects, engineers and practitioners who are shaping the future of Microsoft Cloud and AI.

This year's conference is all about turning innovation into action, and our Cloud Engineering team has built these sessions to do exactly that. Whether you're here to strengthen your Azure expertise, accelerate Copilot adoption, dive into AI agent development or explore security best practices, our goal is to equip you with practical, real-world knowledge you can apply immediately. We're proud to partner with you as you expand your capabilities and uncover new opportunities in the Microsoft ecosystem.

Thank you for investing your time with us and for being part of our community of builders, innovators and technical leaders. We hope these sessions inspire new ideas, sharpen your skills and help you drive meaningful impact for your customers.

I look forward to an exciting and productive week together.

Ken Lince
Senior Director, Cloud Engineering
TD SYNNEX